A GUIDE TO THE
GREEK AUDIOVISUAL INDUSTRY

2017

The MEDIA sub-program of Creative Europe supports European film and audiovisual industries in the development, distribution and promotion of their work. The program supports projects with a European dimension while also enabling them to seek markets beyond national and European borders. Funding is also available for training, development and new technologies. Creative Europe Desk Greece is helping Greek creative and audiovisual sectors to access funding from Creative Europe program.

You have in your hands the second edition of the Film Guide: Greece. It is the result of the collective efforts of the entire Greek audiovisual industry, from the Greek Film Centre, to production companies, distributors, and screen owners. This guide is published within the frameworks of the Creative Europe Programme – an aspiring successor to the well-known MEDIA program, which has been a great financial boost to European film production, together with Eurimages and SEE Cinema Network, also Europe-financed and implemented. The main aim of the Guide is to create a useful tool for bringing Greek and foreign professionals together and to give an overview of the latest changes and developments in the domestic film industry. The Greek Film Centre, still the sole public organization responsible for the promotion of cinema in Greece, gives, and will continue to give, its outmost to support the Greek film industry in the best possible way both domestically and internationally.

PAUSILYPON FILMS

Pausilypon is a word used to describe something that reduces sadness, just like storytelling does. This production company is looking for stories that transcend frontiers and nationalistic stereotypes, as well as for real-life neglected heroes. By producing feature films, documentaries, video art & radio essays, we aim to bring to light stories that can serve as an essential tool for social dialogue and change.

SYROS INTERNATIONAL FILM FESTIVAL (SIFF)

Syros International Film Festival showcases a wide spectrum of cinema in traditional and re-purposed island sites. Located in the middle of the Aegean summer, SIFF embeds events, styles and programs—experimental and narrative, recent and retrospective, Greek and international, workshops and expanded cinema performance—into its unique setting. The festival aims to welcome an array of cinematic experiences into this immersive dreamscape, allowing us to re-think the question of “What is cinema”?

HELLENIC FILM ACADEMY

The Hellenic Film Academy (HFA) was founded on November 23, 2009 in Athens in order to gather under the same roof all the film people of Greece who consistently and in duration shape the country's "filmscape". The HFA's primary focus is to hold the Annual National Film Awards. Moreover, the HFA leads and supports initiatives regarding the development of domestic film production, and outsources research projects aiming to improve national film policy. The HFA is also active in film education and training. It holds open discussions and lectures for film professionals and organizes seminars and workshops for film students or/and anyone who's interested in film art and practice. In collaboration with the European Film Academy, and other film Academies of Europe, the HFA organizes international film events. As a member of the Film Academy Network of Europe, the HFA contributes to the discussion on the future of Europe's film industry and policy.
